The Allies Of Humanity Book Three

Synopsis

The Allies of Humanity Book Three presents the third set of Briefings from a mysterious off-planet source whose stated purpose is to orient the human family to the realities of life in our local universe and to alert us to a dangerous Intervention now occurring here on Earth. The Allies of Humanity Briefings are a genuine communication from a group claiming to represent the free races in our local region of space. The Allies distinguish themselves from those races who are intervening in the world today. They warn us against the presence of this Intervention, insisting that no foreign race should be visiting our world, either now or in the future, until humanity has gained the strength, unity and maturity necessary to engage successfully with a Greater Community of intelligent life in the universe. Whether humanity can ever attain this is uncertain, yet the Allies tell us that intervention in our world has already begun by several non-military races seeking to establish their influence and dominance in our world through deceptive and persuasive means. The Briefings reveal that we are in the unfortunate position of being the race who is being discovered. History has taught us the danger and the tragedy that native peoples faced when they encountered outside forces for the first time. Now we are all the natives of a new world, and the threat of Intervention is upon us. As a result, the Allies are calling for us to build enough human unity amongst the tribes, nations and religions of Earth so that we may protect our freedom in a non-human universe. Marshall Vian Summers received this unique communication from the Allies of Humanity in a state of revelation beginning in November 1997. In the years since, the Allies of Humanity have delivered three sets of Briefings. The Allies of Humanity Book Three represents their most recent communication to Earth. With the Allies Briefings, for the first time, we are being given a window into the reality of life beyond our world, a view that we would never have otherwise. This creates a greater context for understanding why the Intervention is occurring, who is generating it and what humanity will need to know to preserve and build human freedom and sovereignty so that we can fulfill our destiny as a free race in the universe.

I find that I cannot stop reading these books by Marshall Vian Summers, and "A of H--Book 3" is no exception. That statement, however, is not necessarily a ringing endorsement. All the Summers books reflect mastery in the art of repetition without specifics. The message is, essentially, that we are on the verge of an intervention from other species not native to our planet, one that will not be in our best interest. Unfortunately, our foolishness, greed, and urge to broadcast our presence to the cosmos has put us at great risk--in the same way indigenous people have, throughout history, been imperiled by the encroachment of explorers and exploiters from other cultures. That we are sitting ducks is, I think, probably a valid assertion. However, there are a couple of features of these books by Summers that give me pause. One is the startling, but deft omission of any real specifics. The narrative always speaks in broad generalities and then rephrases the same generalities in multiple ways without ever getting more specific. It's actually rather fascinating how a message so absent of concrete detail can keep the reader pinned to the page, waiting for the grail of a truly specific hint that would help us get a grip on ways to offset our impending demise. But, no--all we can do to prevent the seemingly inevitable encroachment and enslavement of our planet is be less greedy, more united, and more discrete. Good luck with that. How in the world is that to be accomplished in a species that is by nature chaotic, disorganized, greedy, indiscreet, and focused on separation? And, for those on the planet who are trying to protect our resources, how do you propose we prevent the endless, often petty, conflicts that lead to war?
